

O'Brien and Partners new Corporate Finance Specialist, Dafydd Jones

Corporate Finance Specialist Joins Main Sponsors of the Chambers of Commerce Business Week

O'Brien & Partners, the practice that was recently acquired by Ashmole Rowlands & Co who adopted the name of the substantial Cardiff based firm, is already swiftly expanding with the appointment of an Audit & Accounts Manager, Dafydd Jones.

Responsible for corporate finance and due diligence, Dafydd originally successfully studied for a law degree, and qualified as a chartered accountant in 2003 with an international accountancy firm.

Moving to a medium size practice in the mid 2000's he gained extensive experience working with SME clients, including providing commercial and business planning advice.

Dafydd, who outside of the office is an active member of his children's schools Parent Teachers Association where he holds the post of treasurer, commented "O'Brien and Partners presented the perfect opportunity for me to work with a high calibre team in a practice that really does bust traditional thinking with their style and range of services. The diversity and quality of the client service solutions provides the chance to highlight that we are one of the only practices in South Wales to have a proven successful track record of experience providing truly cutting edge specialised services such as aggressive tax saving strategies”.

Lewis Van Emden, partner at the practice which is rapidly expanding, said “Dafydd’s corporate finance knowledge and expertise in delivery helps to set us apart from our competitors. We welcome innovation – from the type of service that we offer to the way in which it is delivered”.
